

ALIEN PLOT FOR RULE U. S. GROWS AMID RAIDS

WOMEN'S REPRESENTATION, LABOR SITUATION, AND DOWNING OF REDS, ARE CHIEF ISSUES BEFORE G. O. P.

Republicans of 14 Middle Western States Mold Party Platform for 1920 Presidential Campaign; Lowden and Wood Speak.

(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Jan. 6.—Republicans from 14 middle western states continued today their work of molding party issues and laying plans for the participation of republican women in the 1920 presidential campaign.

Demands of republican women for equal representation on the national committee of the party and a sentiment, reflected in speeches of prominent party leaders, to deal vigorously with the labor and industrial situation as one of the chief issues of the election campaign were the principal developments of the conference which began yesterday.

Many of the women today regarded their demands for "fair representation" in the party organization as virtually confirmed with the statement of Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee that "the republican party offers the women everything we can offer the men."

Women Ask Double Membership
Resolutions adopted by the women urged the national convention to take action to double membership in the national committee, giving each state representation by one man and one woman. The resolution urged also that party committees, both state and local,

"Direct citizenship for women, not citizenship through marriage," and "making possible the naturalization of married women was one of 10 planks recommended for the republican platform."

Major General Leonard Wood, assailing anarchism, declared "the biggest problem of the day is maintenance of law and order, respect for constituted authority and maintenance of a government under the constitution."

Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Illinois, urged women to aid in bringing about a more healthy industrial situation. "If every man and woman took the same interest in political matters as in their personal affairs, most of our ills would disappear," he asserted.

In the war on radicalism he said there was no more potent argument than the home of a healthy industrial life. "The firing squad was recommended by Chairman Hays and the women's committee," he said.

Recent publication of documents belonging to Prince Sixtus of Bourbon, relative to Italy's willingness to make a separate peace, as well as the Franco-Italian agreement of 1902 may have been for the object of discrediting the work of Italy during the war, the newspaper said.

The newspaper says this would strengthen the attitude of the allies against Italy in pending negotiations. "It is a purpose of the conference," continued the Tribune, "the conference Signor Nitti will hold in London and Paris will be in the nature of a trap in which the last Italian defenses will fall. But will the premier meet the fate of a rat?"

Mount Clemens, Mich., Jan. 6.—Attorney General Greenback announced shortly after noon today that he had ordered a warrant charging first degree murder issued against Lloyd Mayer, held as a witness in connection with the slaying of J. Stanley Brown two weeks ago.

Paris, Jan. 6.—Disaster threatens Europe "as a result of the policy adopted by the allied nations" in the opinion of General Ludendorff, former commander-in-chief of the German armies, an interview with whom is printed in today's Matin. General Ludendorff refused to take on the internal situation in Germany created by the Versailles treaty, when asked to do so by the newspaper's Berlin correspondent.

After the shameful treatment which Germany has endured from the entente, he said, "I must refuse to publish anything in the entente press. It is our final ruin which is coming, the entente nations are dragged along with us, they have none to blame except themselves. Sooner or later a terrible catastrophe will strike Europe and it will be because of the short-sighted policy of the entente."

UNITED CHURCH TO BE CONSIDERED AT PRESBYTERIAN CALL

New York, Jan. 6.—Commissioners of approximately 20 denominations have accepted an invitation from the Presbyterian church to consider at Philadelphia February 1 to 3 on a proposal for a national merger of Christian interests under the name of the United Church of Christ in America, according to announcement today from Presbyterian headquarters in this city.

The movement proposes formation of a council elected by the supreme bodies of the various denominations. The council would comprise two ministerial and two lay delegates for each 10,000 communicants.

The proposed constitution of the new organization, the announcement stated, "looks forward ultimately to a complete organic union of the Protestant churches entering upon the membership of the council. The announcement stated that the constitution opens the way for a gradual merging of the inter-denominational interests while retaining the present denominational ecclesiastical organizations and is an advance on the present organization of the federal council of the churches of Christ in America as it opens the way for consolidation of administrative agencies and the carrying forward of the general work of the churches through the council of the United Church."

The proposed plan of the council calls for administration of the foreign missions, in addition to the United churches as well as other administrative agencies, on the approval of the supreme governing advisory bodies. It accepts the ordination and doctrinal views of evangelical churches joining the council and provides also for the mission of community churches and independent organizations.

PARENTS KEEP VIGIL FOR WANDERING SON

Cleveland, O., (By Mail).—The body of Corp. Harold A. Moorehouse, Cleveland, according to the records of the United States army, lies beneath a small mound at Osnabrück, near the Belgian coast, and within the sound of gunshot from the ruins of Ypres. Confirmation of his death and burial is confirmed by the records of his superior officers and chums who stood by the open graves of the heroes of Osnabrück.

But the relatives of the young man, his father and mother and many friends cannot believe that he is dead and confidently expect his early return home.

Their hope is based on what they have heard of "lost memory" cases among the returned soldiers. Nurses and attendants at various army hospitals in the United States have identified photographs of Corporal Moorehouse as the likeness of a wounded soldier who showed an X-ray picture of his wounded arm.

Hospitals have been visited by the father, Herbert S. Moorehouse, in search of his son. Further encouragement in the search has come from letters from Denver, and towns in Utah telling of Corporal Moorehouse.

VANCOUVER'S HEALTH CONDITION TO IMPROVE

Vancouver, B. C., (By Mail).—Provincial city officials are wondering whether the "health" of Vancouver residents will show a marked improvement this month, now that Canada has returned to a peace basis and importation of liquor is permitted.

The ban on importation of liquor containing more than 24 percent proof spirit, in effect in the Dominion since Dec. 31, 1917, terminated Jan. 1 of this year.

Vancouver newspapers investigating the liquor traffic in this city for the past year, have endorsed the declarations of prohibition leaders that "some local doctors should be prosecuted as bootleggers." It is alleged that one physician, in one month of 1919, issued 4,000 liquor prescriptions and it also is asserted that liquor prescriptions issued by local doctors have averaged about 20,000 a month. The assertion is made that the "regular price" for a prescription for two quarts of booze has been $4.

Spanish Dancer Arouses Interest in Granados Opera

Paris (By Mail).—Enrique Granados' opera "Goyescas" was produced today at the Paris opera house. Maria Molina, a Spanish dancer, aroused great interest in her interpretations with the result that there is a sharp cleft between "modernists" and "anti-modernists" among her sisters of the ballet.

Granados, it will be remembered, perished on his return voyage from America aboard the Sussex, which was torpedoed by a German submarine. His son, Eduardo, attended the rehearsals. His likeness to his father is striking.

PAINTING FURNITURE.
By Carolyn Sherwin Bailey.

Getting Ready.
Snowy January days are just right for doing the new furniture decorating. Painted furniture is rare and expensive. Why not paint your own? All you need is a paint scraper, a sheet of sandpaper, shellac and prepared paint of the colors you want, a coarse and a fine brush, and some of your school stencil patterns.

If it is an old chair or table, remove the paint or varnish first, with the scraper, and afterward smooth it down with sandpaper.

The First Steps.
Before painting, wood needs a coat or two of filler. Your shellac acts as filler. Put it on quickly, for it dries in a jiffy and you do not want it to dry in streaks. After the coat of shellac has dried, sandpaper the surface lightly and apply another. Keep this up until all the cracks in the wood are filled.

Colors and Painting.
It will be only fun to paint your furniture. Select white, yellow, blue, or soft green. All these colors and more, too, come in the small cans of ready mixed paint. Apply the paint with a large, thick brush, and when the paint is thicker the brush, the less apt the paint is to spatter. Use two coats at least, and let the paint dry thoroughly.

Finishing on the Design.
Designed stencil patterns are to be had at art shop very cheaply. Choose fruits or flowers.

The decoration of a chair is best applied to the back and arms, that of a table around the edge. Fasten the cardboard stencil pattern securely with small thumb tacks. To the piece of furniture, and apply the colors through the holes in the pattern, using a different brush, or a clean one for each color. A fine brush is necessary for this work, and it is a good plan to have a cup of turpentine handy in case the color runs, or you want to clean your brush quickly. Remove the pattern carefully, and your design of cherubs, oranges, or daisies, or any like is beautifully done on the colored background.

A Cheer Box Work-Basket.
By Grant M. Hyde.

It is a long time since we have built anything to assist Mother in her work. This week it is her turn, and in this piece of work we may make good use of Sister's help.

Unless Mother has one of those expensive work-basket stands to hold her mending and sewing, she has probably always wished she had one. Perhaps we can make one of a cheese-box that she will appreciate more than an elaborate work-basket built in a factory.

The basket part is made of a round cheese-box which we can easily secure at a grocery store. They are all about the same diameter but differ in depth. For the basket we should cut down the sides to about 3 in. high, don't try to split this wood but use a fine saw after marking the line carefully.

Before the work goes further, wash the basket with soap and water, and then dry it. Cover the inside with a cloth and use a coarse brush to place the pieces inside out. Then with some more of the cloth and some tape we should make rows of pockets for spoons, scissors, emery, wax, needle-book, and other articles which Mother usually has in her work-basket.

The four legs, which are about 30 in. long, should be made of whatever material and in whatever design our ingenuity prompts. Neatly planed, and varnished 1x2 hardwood strips would be the simplest. Heavy cardboard will serve with a little, but might turn splinters. If there is some worn-out furniture in the attic or cellar, some ready-made spindles or legs may be secured from that source. When the legs are finished, fasten them to the cheese-box with screws driven from the inside, or with short iron bolts.

The shelf should not be laid out until after the legs are in place so that its size and the notches for the legs may be determined exactly. When it is finished, use long, slender screws to hold it in place. Finish the exposed woodwork with plenty of varnish.

Catholic Keep Ban on Saturday Night Dances

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Marquette, Jan. 6.—The ban on Saturday night dances in the diocese of Marquette has been promulgated by the Catholic bishop, Paul Rhode, Green Bay. A recent council of the priests of the diocese, after some discussion, decided that the ban should remain. It has been in force for some years and resulted because of the character of Saturday night affairs in many country districts where the attendants danced until well into Sunday morning. Rev. Father Tully announced in Our Lady of Lourdes church here that any Catholic attending a dance on Saturday night would be considered as defying the laws of the church and he would be forbidden the sacraments.

TURKS COMPLETE DATA RELATIVE TO PEACE

Constantinople, Thursday, Dec. 31.—The commission preparing data on the Turkish viewpoint relative to peace, has completed its work. In addition to territorial matters, the commission has formulated an outline of proposed reforms which offers substitutes for capitulations which would deprive Turkey of possible development economically, and which would interfere with sovereignty and legal matters.

Meetings of the cabinet are held daily to discuss work of the commission. Much attention is being given the problem of Christian minorities and a part of the peace problem by the Turkish press, which suggested an addition of an article on the Armenians to permit the Armenians to segregate refugees of their race.

Some urge that Armenians be given Turkish citizenship, but saying Armenians refusing to adopt Turkish citizenship and remaining in Turkey should have the status of foreigners.

Is Bob Fitzsimmons' Boy Set to Carry the Name in Arena?

Bob Fitzsimmons, Jr., in fighting pose his dad taught him and at his favorite exercise of chopping wood. It was zero weather at Fitz's home in Nutley, N. J., when he posed in the snow.

By N. E. BROWN.

Is the name of Bob Fitzsimmons once more to play a part in historic annals in the next few seasons?

Maybe.

There are those fans down east who wouldn't take the other end of the heavy stick any white hope or large. And thousands of fans, with memories of and faith in the old man still strong in their minds, were willing to back his assertion "sight unseen."

The youngster, though, showed little desire to start on a ring career then and, friends say, the overcast star bawled the boy out roundly several times for lacking the proper spirit.

Then along came the war. Young Fitz got into Overseas, he won some recognition and some confidence in his own ability by winning a battle or two in the reped arena.

WHERE WILL GOLF CLASSIC BE PLAYED?

(BY NIBLICK)

Where is the Western amateur golf championship tournament to be held this year?

With most of its members Chicagoans, the natural place would seem to be at the Skokie country club. But in the meantime other clubs are after the classic. The desire to have the meet does not confine itself to the middle west either, although the Town and Country club of St. Paul is strong for it. From down in Tennessee comes a call from the Memphis country club. How, if it were held there, it would not be a number of men who cannot get their real play in before the beginning of the summer, because tournament there would have to be held before the summer sets in. It seems a good bet that the Skokie club will get it.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 6.—Harvard recently to his returning football heroes when they complete their transcontinental journey here tonight will be internal but decidedly enthusiastic. Students and members of the alumni will meet the players at the South station. There will be a brief period of songs and cheers, will escort them to the college.

ROOT, JR., AND JUDGE FINCH ARE WINNERS OF PINEHURST GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 6.—One of the closest golf affairs that has ever been staged at Pinehurst came to an end today when Elihu Root, Jr., and Judge Finch, defeated Judges John M. Tierney and R. P. Lydon, democrats, by a margin of just two holes of play at the end of seven days of the most strenuous contention that politics has ever engendered. The republicans elected Root to their liking and assessed the damages and costs against their opponents.

Canadian Claims He Trained Reuther

Moose Jaw, Sask., Jan. 6.—Nick Williams, who will manage the Moose Jaw baseball team of the Western Canada league this season, is credited with having been responsible for the early success of Reuther Reuther of the Cincinnati Nationals. Williams was a catcher when in his prime and may do a little backslapping for the Robby Hoods. This will be his first season with the locals. As it is expected that the Western Canada league will be classed as a B circuit, the player team will probably be increased. Williams is on an ivory hunt at present.

MEMORIAL CONTINENTAL HALL.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have one of the most beautiful buildings in Washington. It is an imposing edifice of marble on Seventeenth street between the Pan American Union and the Red Cross buildings, and is called Memorial Continental hall. It is a memorial place. Nearly everything in it was presented in memory of something or somebody, and as you walk through it, you are in a constant state of mental oblation to some patriotic person, group, or incident.

If you touch the mahogany side rail while ascending the stairs you are reminded of the Daughters of Vermont by whom it was presented, and begin to think proper and honoring thoughts about these worthy fellow-citizens until you notice that the staircase itself is in honor of Mrs. White, who in turn has done so much to further the erection of a monument to the memory of the prison ship martyrs.

Thus one good memorial deserves another and whoever erected the building is to be commended for his patriotic and helpful group of women in our country. Its work for good is growing as rapidly as its membership, which is rapidly increasing.

One of the most interesting figures seen in Memorial Continental hall is a little frail, white-haired, woman with understanding brown eyes, who speaks nearly every afternoon in the building, usually sitting in a corner of the library. She is Mary S. Lockwood, the only living one of the three founders of the D. A. R. She is also the member who first suggested erecting this building for the preservation of the society's many relics.

She is such a typical feminine person so reminiscent of the helpless, lavender and old lace days, that it is hard to believe she is largely responsible for this powerful organization.

All those who wish to take part in the concert must attend the meeting this evening.

Close friends and co-workers admit the poet has absolutely no interest in the success of the Blue Bird opera. It would not surprise them to have him give up his lecturing tour and sail for home. When asked about this he said:

"I came to see America and lecture—would I not be a queer creature not to see the thing through?" In keeping with "seeing the thing through," he attended the official Belgian dinner given at the Ritz-Carlton by special order of the king and queen. But pleadings and urgings could not induce him to wear his decorations and medals. The Belgian consul was especially desirous that he wear the decoration of the grand officer of the court, which title was given him by the Belgian king many years ago. But Maeterlinck was obdurate. He put the matter to the reporters who interviewed him.

"Why, it is as big as a dishpan—so," he illustrated.

"I would look crazy. They would all take me for a chocolate peddler. You would not wear such a thing here, would you?"

"The poet delights in his six weeks' term of English study, although apologetic about it. His host says he spends much time reading English poetry and trying to get the idiom and slang."

"I fear I will be as a clown speaking to the people," Maeterlinck said.

Poet's Bride and Mrs. Vanderbilt Leading Figures at Blue Bird Ball

Mrs. Maurice Maeterlinck, the playwright's young bride, and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., photographed at Blue Bird ball.

NEW YORK.—Maurice Maeterlinck, the Belgian dramatist, who is here on a lecture tour, was seen today at the Blue Bird ball given in honor of the Waldorf-Astoria, at which his young wife and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., were the most prominent feminine figures, was musically painful to him, he revealed after the ball. But the affair pleased him because of the great delight he felt in viewing the beautiful faces.

"This—what you say—this 'jazz' puts my brain in such a whirl that I have rested my head from it all day long," he complained, "and all this bustling and dancing is maddening to me like me. But ah, the mademoiselles! Never have I seen such beauty in these United States girls. I pity the man who could not look last night as I did."

Close friends and co-workers admit the poet has absolutely no interest in the success of the Blue Bird opera. It would not surprise them to have him give up his lecturing tour and sail for home. When asked about this he said:

"I came to see America and lecture—would I not be a queer creature not to see the thing through?" BABY'S FOOTPRINTS CONVINCES MOTHER OF HER OWN CHILD

New York. (By Mail).—A system of taking footprints of children has been adopted in the New York Nursery and Child's Hospital to prevent infants born there from going to the wrong mothers. Its adoption was due to the fact that a soldier's wife who recently gave birth to a baby in that hospital at first denied that the child was hers. The young mother, who had been reading stories of accidental substitution of children at hospitals and similar public institutions, declined to nurse the baby.

"We brought all the proofs we could muster," explained the superintendent, "but the mother persisted in her hallucination. She became hysterical with grief and fright. Finally, I brought her a record which showed that only a little colored baby and her own had been born in the hospital that day. That convinced her, but she still thought that poor woman if other white babies had been born here on the same day."

In order to avoid a similar experience the superintendent engaged a fingerprint expert to instruct the head nurse in trying the system on the babies. "We found we couldn't get good prints of their hands," said the official. "Their feet, however, came out beautifully and for greater security the mother is finger-printed also."

Very young babies, it was said, may look just alike, but their feet are quite dissimilar. One child, the superintendent declared, will have a perfectly formed miniature pedal extremity, another's will print mostly vague cross-lines and still another will look like an egg and five toeprints.

Under the present system, which has been in operation nearly six months, the child's foot is inked and stamped on the hospital chart of the mother. Although he may not remember any one in the family and though no one can tell where he got his nose, or his eyes, or his mouth, or the color of his hair, a comparison of the footprint taken at birth it was said, will tell whose child he is from among the hundreds of infants in this New York institution.

"I will be as ready with my tongue as I can."

The poet will not speak of psychic things. "That will all be in my lectures," he says. "Yes, I will say that I do not think that as yet we can see any spiritual results while the war has brought. It is too soon to tell."

The telephone jangled and the great, rugged-faced dreamer prepared for flight. "If this telephone is the worst invention of mankind," he said, "no escape, no rest. Never before have I lived with one, and never again will I do so. The strong winds of my villa will give me time for thought and keep the world out."

Shelbygan.—Health programs will be conducted in the county schools this week under the joint auspices of the state board of health and the committee on public health of the Shelbygan county Red Cross chapter.

La Crosse.—What is considered the largest farm deal ever made in this county, was announced Monday when the Sells farm, located just outside of the city, was sold to the La Crosse Housing corporation, which will plat it into one-acre tracts upon which homes will be erected. Around the State

Eau Claire.—Leo Germain, on his 40 acre farm near Wheaton, raised a hog that weighed 625 pounds. Dressed at a market in Chippewa Falls, it weighed 525 pounds, and brought its owner $90.86. The huge porker could not be scaled in a barrel after the usual fashion, but was strapped in blankets and hot water poured over them for 20 minutes. A farmer near Tilden brought to the same market a porker weighing 510 pounds.

Green Bay.—Five bowling teams have already been entered in the annual state tournament for the championship of the 30 required from this city. This number is just about one-tenth of the teams that are expected to be entered from Green Bay for the tournament opening January 29. It is the intention of Pres. G. A. Walter of the city association to enter a large number of teams so that Green Bay may bid for the state tournament within a year or two.

Green Bay.—At a recent meeting of the Green Bay Association of Commerce Fred Harbut was elected president to fill that office vacated by the resignation of E. L. Beck. Mr.

THE GAZETTE'S PLATFORM FOR JANESVILLE AND ROCK COUNTY.

Community Betterments to which this Newspaper is Pledged.

An adequate and modern hotel.
A community building containing an auditorium,
woman's rest room, and memorial hall for soldiers,
sailors and nurses.
Traffic regulations which will reduce danger on streets to the minimum.
A street car service which will answer the needs
of an increasing population.
Improved streets in the city and better roads in the country.
A survey of the housing situation with a view of discouraging exorbitant rentals for both rooms
and houses.
Careful appraisal of property, particularly that of those who have increased their rentals, so that they may pay their fair share of the taxes.
A livestock pavilion at the fair grounds to be used in promoting the county's endeavor to take first place in the state as a stock producing center.
An indoor recreation center in which dances,
and sporting events may be held.
More parks and playgrounds for use of the entire community.
Protected ice-skating rinks for children.

SUNDAY RECREATION.

One of Janesville's problems is that of keeping satisfied the men who come here to work. Men, these days, are not merely satisfied with wages. That angle to the economic situation has been discussed before. We know that we have to get a man who comes here to work, our city. He wants to know something about our churches, our schools, our homes and our amusement and recreation facilities. If we cannot give him a reasonable assurance that these things will be provided for him, he naturally will go where they are to be found.

The proposition of providing recreation is particularly troublesome at this time. Many hundred young men from other cities suddenly have been thrust upon us. These fellows are good workmen and they earn good wages. Most of them live in rooms. They seek something to do after they have finished their day's work. Many of them already have affiliated with churches; a goodly proportion have become members of the Y. M. C. A.; but there are hundreds of others who will not take up the social life of the church or who will not join the Y. M. C. A. They are the ones that employers find difficult to keep.

One man who employs several hundred workers was approached by a group of his men, who told him that they could not stay in the city any longer because they had nothing to do on Sundays. After they had gone to church they either had to go to a theatre, stay in their rooms or walk the streets. They complained because there was no place where they could play a game of billiards or bowling after dinner. Some of these men went to other cities where they could indulge in their favorite recreation on their day off. They were good, clean workers and men.

Almost every Sunday many of the young fellows who work here go to Madison, Beloit, Chicago, Milwaukee and other places where they can put in their holiday at some recreation.

If Janesville is going to keep her working people satisfied she must allow them to amuse themselves in their off hours.

Bowling alleys and billiard rooms should be allowed to open after noon on Sunday. They should be strictly regulated so that evil conditions which have given Janesville's so-called pool rooms a bad name, will be eliminated. There is no more reason for preventing a man from going into a billiard room or bowling alley on Sunday afternoon and play his game than there would be for preventing the man and woman who goes to church in the morning from going to their favorite theatre in the afternoon or evening.

If the billiard and bowling places are allowed to open after noon on Sunday, as they are in most every city in the state, it should be distinctly understood that boys MUST be kept out at all times; that all forms of gambling be prohibited; and that those who frequent the places MUST conduct themselves in a quiet and orderly manner.

There is no objection to baseball games in summer and we cannot see why the line should be drawn at bowling and billiards.

BELGIUM SETS EXAMPLE.

Does Belgium efficiency and recuperative power so far exceed that of France and other nations that one is comparatively reconstructed while the others still flounder, or is the explanation in a lesser cohesiveness over politics and militaristic pride in Belgium? Whatever the reason the difference between Belgium's rehabilitation and in most other European countries continued industrial prostration is too striking to be ignored.

Not even France can claim to have suffered more from German occupation, since Belgium was invaded first and destruction by the enemy maintained to the last day. French industrial equipment was destroyed and carried away, but so was that of Belgium, which was literally stripped of even ordinary domestic fixtures. Yet Belgium is producing 80 percent of pre-war coal tonnage, of which much goes to France, has restored the glass industry and is able to supply structural steel for French coal mines and rails for French railroads. Almost all the industries have been revived, some to greater extent than others, while in some the restoration is almost to the normal point.

In Northern France, on the contrary, there is little improvement over the conditions at the ending of hostilities. Textile plants, which suffered most, are barely operating, some not at all, while industrial works in other lines are doing little or nothing. Perhaps the real explanation is that little Belgium, with her densely crowded population, had no time to waste on politics once fighting ended. Belgium had no advantages over the other countries except, perhaps, serious inclination to get back to work.

NO FLOOD OF IMMIGRATION.

Arrival of 8,000 immigrants at New York within 48
hours recently may have created a quite erroneous impression, according to the officials who have studied the subject. The present rush, they say, is but temporary.

Fifty percent were Italian residents who had left the United States to fight for Italy, many naturalized.
Most of the others were former residents or relatives of residents, the average being of a much higher type than in years, only two percent falling in the literary test.

The officials estimate that immigration is not

WHAT TO BE.

"What shall I be?" said he to me
The other night upon my knee,
"When I grow up to be a man."
"Well, plain he wanted me to plan
His life on earth throughout the years,
And cite, perhaps, a few careers
That lead to fame and fortune great
From which he soon must choose his fate.

And so I said: "Let's talk it o'er
And see what really lies before Each little boy who later on Must do men's work when we are gone.
What is it every one must need
Out there who's eager to succeed?
Let's try to understand and see
Just what it is that you must be.

"First keep in mind that this is true:
The kind of work you choose to do
Will matter not, if it's a task
That men of you may fairly ask;
If real service here you find
No shame can harm you while you live.
But whatever's your post or fee,
There are some things that you must be:

"You must be honest—herein lies
The test of men, however wise.
You must be loyal through and through,
Willing to work, and cheerful, too;
You must be patient and be kind,
Be big of heart and broad of mind,
And be too manly here to claim Advantage that is linked with shame.

"You must be clean—the world demands
Clean heart and minds as well as hands;
You must be willing here to bear
Your portion of life's constant care,
And set in every way you can
The fine example of a man.
If these you are, you need not fear—
You shall succeed in every sphere."

The Guy Who Makes All The Ome

Civil Service Faces Collapse

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director
Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau,
Washington, D. C.

1920 will not exceed 300,000, as against 800,000 before the war. The reduction is expected because of the necessity of securing visa of passports by American consuls at the port of departure, and the lack of shipping accommodation, together with the literacy test, which is itself believed likely to account for 40 percent reduction.

Judging from accounts from abroad, South America seems to be the favorite point of emigration now being considered, both by the Teutonic and the Latin people.
It need not be surprising if the great wave of European emigration swings away from us and toward the southern continent in the next decade.

KEEP EYE ON HYPHENATES.

While on first thought one might imagine that a presidential and congressional campaign year, with politicians trying to outdo one another in professing devotion to the stars and stripes, would be an ideal one for Americanism, this depends upon the thoroughness with which the loyal do their work. Eagerness to obtain votes carries many a candidate far in making promises, and some are not particular about the loyalty of those to whom they appeal.

When it is remembered that some of the worst hyphenates during the war pretended to be almost burning up with fervor for America, the need of scrutinizing the conduct of some organizations and individuals should be plain. Judgment will have to be upon deeds rather than upon words.

So let the forces of Americanism start their work at once to expose any who are playing double in their appeal for support.

Their Opinions

They say the old Greeks and Romans used beans in recording votes. The trouble with the modern voter is that he does not use his bean enough.—Marquette Eagle-Star.—We might add that some politicians have been accused of using too many beans.

Papa got some beautiful presents. Santa sent him a nice blizzard to shovel off the sidewalk. Guy next door returned the umbrella he borrowed last June.
Mother gave him a corkscrew and a non-refillable wallet.

It appears the head of the locomotive engineers has put forth some rather sensible suggestions for settlement of labor questions. It looks like some labor leaders were keeping their heads.—Racine Journal-News.

You can't blame the weather man for delivering the cold waves; he has to get rid of his stock in some way or other.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

When a man says he is a proletarian, just up and call him a liar. There ain't no such animal in these parts.—Eau Claire Leader.

When capital and labor get together let each remember there is a third party present—the public.

Backward Glances

FORTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 6, 1880.—A young man named Wescott, son of W. B. Wescott, had his arm severely mangled in one of the machines at the Colton company late last night.
Before the hand could be extracted from the machine,
the flesh was torn and some of the bones were broken.
—M. C. Fish, who has worked here for eight years, left today for Rockford.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 6, 1890.—The 25th wedding anniversary of Capt. and Mrs. Piny Nörer was celebrated last evening. About 75 friends met at the home of Stanley Smith and took the couple completely by surprise.—The George Wilson Minstrel show will appear at Lappin's hall next Wednesday evening. They will give a parade in the morning.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Jan. 6, 1900.—Charles E. Hermann, proprietor of the American House, lost $132 yesterday in board and personal property when a German, who has been boarding there, disappeared without paying his back board. He took articles from three other men staying there.—Boat houses on the river have been broken into and valuable fixtures stolen from the boats.

TEN YEARS AGO

Jan. 6, 1910.—Coldest day of season. Thermometer registered 20 degrees below early this morning in the city, while nearby farmers said it was down to 26 below.
—Train service still tied up by blizzard. All the western trains were 29 hours late. No street cars are running and horses cannot be hired at the livery.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

A Little Slice O' Life.
All day Wednesday we waited,
Having put our affairs in shape
And being ready for the big dive,
For the scientists had told us
That on that day the stars
Would be pulled off their orbit
By the action of five tipsy planets
And the end of the world would come.
So at about Wednesday we waited,
And waited and waited and waited,
And looked out of the window
Every five minutes to see
The big thing begin to happen.
We hadn't paid our monthly bills,
And for days we had figured
Just how much the end of the world was going to save us in money.
Until after dark we waited
And nothing unusual happened.
And we went to bed disappointed.
The scientists had fooled us again.
We had been figuring on the trouble
We would dodge in the future
And how many instalment collectors
they would owe us for everything.
But the scientists didn't keep Their promise to us, and so—
Thursday morning we took the list
And started out to do our Christmas shopping.

Thomas Scowcroft, a perfectly safe and sane gentleman and a friend of ours, had been called to the office by telephone the other day which galvanized all of us into immediate action. A friend of his telephoned from his home in Rockford, Ill., that he would trade one cub of Oscar Pepper for ten pounds of sugar. The telephone, the wireless, the messenger service and every other means of communication were immediately set in motion, and next morning everybody brought a tablespoon of sugar from home. By noon, the ten pounds was completely delivered. It was dispatched immediately, but by a secret arrangement Tom had the quart of Pepper sent to his house. Which only goes to show—well, it only goes to show, that's all.

Another Genius.
Dug Purdy has sent in the following effusion, which deserves a space
in somebody's anthology:
A maiden stood upon the porch,
The clock was striking nine.
When down the street there came a lad who heaved a lonesome, and he asked her if she'd wait.
She hesitated very calmly to the things the young man said,
And as he vowed his love was like a lure, flaming torch,
She said: "Duggone you, Harry," and knocked him off the porch.

One of the hardest things about being a regular reader of the "Safe-post" is carrying the blamed thing home.

When a man tosses his hat into the presidential ring these days, he needs to have his initials in it to get it back.

A photographer who can't make a homey woman look beautiful might just as well get a good job driving a hack or working on the section.

As for "The Four Horsemen," we have read two of them and hope to complete the other two by the new year.

If nobody else seeks the republican nomination for president, it looks as though Leonard Wood.

One of the most unfortunate men
we know is Mr. Berger of Fondham.
One advantage in the papers that he has lost a gentleman's handbag, containing two pounds of sugar.

In London they have named a cocktail in honor of "Duggyfoot"
Johnson, the American prohibition worker. This is the height of something or other, we don't know just what.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J.
Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the editor, Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Is the Sweet bill, granting increased compensation to disabled soldiers, retroactive? H. J. H.
A. The Sweet bill provides for the increase in compensation from the date of the original award. A soldier who has been receiving $30 per month under the old compensation law, and is now entitled to $80 a month under the Sweet bill, will advance $50 a month from the date he was first awarded compensation. If, for example, he has been receiving compensation for a year, he will have $80 coming to him in a lump sum,
$80 coming to him in a lump sum.

Q. Do salmon spawn once in a lifetime, and shortly afterwards
die? E. L. C.
A. There are 10 easily recognized kinds of salmon, only one of which is known to die immediately after spawning. This peculiar salmon is common on the Pacific coast.

Q. How many men have held the rank of admiral in the United States navy? A. H. K.
A. This rank has been held by only Farragut, Porter, Dewey, and Sims.

Q. If an employer gives his office men Christmas presents, an employment must be included in their income tax returns? G. E. C.
A. The employee is not required to include money received as a Christmas gift in his income tax return.
It must be included in the employer's return. If the money is a bonus the employee must include the amount in his tax return as the employer is permitted to deduct it from his income.

Q. Is tattooing of the skin an old custom? R. T.
A. It is impossible to say definitely where and when this custom originated. Records of it are found in the tombs near Thebes, where there are painted representations of a race of white men whose bodies are tattooed. In Caesar's "Commentaries" we are told that the Britons were tattooed.

Q. What is the oldest game of ball? J. O. H.
A. Handball is believed to be the parent of all our modern games of baseball, basketball, tennis, cricket, and baseball. Gradual was the evolution to a game where something beside the naked hand was used for striking the ball. First the hand was covered with a glove to protect it.
Then came the first rude form of racquet and bat which underwent many changes until the present day racquet and bat were evolved.

Like Being Hit By Rattle Snake

Says that every time you cut or pick at a corn you invite lockjaw

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness
is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out with the fingers without one particle of pain.
This freezone is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and just loosens the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. He says a quarter of an ounce will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but it is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.
You are positively warned that cutting or picking at a corn is a suicidal habit.

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

Congressman Isaac Siegel of the house immigration committee has made public the text of a bill for the burning of the books which has been approved by the sub-judiciary committee of the house and will be reported out Jan. 5. It provides among other things that any one who advocates, contributes or disseminates money for the dissemination of criminal anarchy, or imports any unmarketable matter under the act, or displays any red flag or other symbol of anarchy, is to be punished by imprisonment for 10 years, a fine of $20,000, or both.

Congressman Siegel, who is one of the most active enemies of the Reds in congress, was born in New York city in 1880. He graduated from the New York university law school in 1901 and was admitted to the bar in 1902. He was appointed special attorney general for prosecution of the Anarchist frauds in 1909 and 1910. Siegel, who is a republican, has represented the Twentieth New York district in congress since 1915.

Monk Leads Church Drive To Check Bolshevism

(By Associated Press.)

Pittsburgh, (By Mail).—One hundred and forty-five Holy Name societies of the Roman Catholic church in the Pittsburgh district have launched a campaign to stop the spread of bolshevism among wage-earners and to further Americanization. Literature intended to show the close relations between capital and labor is being distributed by the organization.

Rev. Claude Garry, Dominican monk and a leader in the campaign, declared bolshevism and socialism can be handled but that problems confronted by capital and labor must be definitely settled to bring peace to the world.

La Crosse.—F. T. Emmert, Madison, United States deputy revenue collector, has opened offices in the federal building here as headquarters for this revenue district, which comprises the counties of La Crosse, Buffalo, Crawford, Jackson, Monroe and Vernon. The division will have five or six deputies working in it.

"Dangerous Days"

"A tendency exists among great numbers of our people to take violent sides upon the chief problems confronting us—the relationship of capital and labor—without a clear understanding of what that problem really means, or what such a division portends;" so writes

RAY STANNARD BAKER

America's greatest reporter, in the first of his series of articles on the vital phases of the present industrial conflict.

Years ago this noted author, whose "Adventures in Contentment," published under the nom de plume of David Grayson, has made him loved by thousands of Americans; began his career as a writer on the staff of The Chicago Daily News. Back in 1894 he described the great Pullman and American Railway union strike. Later he handled the Colorado metal mine strikes and the complicated political-industrial situation in San Francisco. He went through the great anthracite coal strike in 1900.

Desiring to assist in the solution of the present crisis Mr. Baker has been studying the steel strike in Gary, South Chicago and other industrial centers to find out what was behind the strike and whether it is off for good or will be renewed. His articles telling the facts simply and humanly are appearing in The Chicago Daily News.

Whether you are a capitalist, a trade unionist or just an ordinary consumer you will find it profitable to follow Mr. Baker through this important series in

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I wonder if you can tell me why a certain young man always looks so straight in the eye when talking to me? I often catch him just sitting and watching me when I am where he is. I don't know why. He is a gentleman and always treated me with respect. Yet some say this act has meaning. So I hope you can tell me something about it. (CATCHER)

It may be a mannerism which the young man has to look people in the eye when talking. It is considered better to do so than to shift the glance. Perhaps he still cares for you and therefore enjoys looking at you. It is quite impossible for me to tell and let things shape their natural course.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eight years old and am in love with a young man from this town. He has said that he will take care of me. I don't know whether I should give him the idea that I care for him or not. I have been with him several times and he always seems so sure. Should I give him a date when he asks for it? How can I win his love?

It would be a bad policy to let the young man know that you care for him. If you are cordial and hospitable, it is enough without giving him definite reason to think that you love him. Give him a "date" when it is convenient for you to do so. It would be unwise, however, to see him more often than twice a week. Do not let him know that you care for him. Let things shape their natural course.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of twenty-eight. I have a friend who after we moved away, he corresponded for two years. Then I did not hear from him again. I thought I answered his last letter. I thought I heard from him a friend not long ago.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

"Ann—!" As that single syllable of Jim's voice came over the telephone wire a great throb of thankfulness warmed my heart. I had been waiting for the kindly deception that now made Jim believe he was responding to my call. "Ann—if you didn't know me, you wouldn't know the game would have been up. Yes, I'm not joking. I was going away. But your voice brought my reason back. And you couldn't do. You gave me. Giving in is very hard—for some natures." The hot blood rose in my face and I trembled. "Thoroughly ashamed of myself," I stood before the instrument that seemed weirdly conscious of my guilt, trying to find a way out. I could not deceive him. It would have been suicidal. Until that moment I had no realization of what my marriage meant to me. I had felt like a child that had lost itself in a fog, had frozen and starved and suffered, and at last been found. "Good-bye, Jim," I said, and he said, "You're wonderful, Ann. You're a real girl. You're almost crumpled up. All my righteousness fell away from me. My fearlessness of grappling with the worst alone seemed not to be there somehow. Instead, I felt an intense longing, half hysterical, to throw myself upon your big old arm and ask him to take care of me. All at once I felt very feminine, and was not ashamed of it. It was hard."

"Chilblain is a mild first degree frostbite of the skin, comparable with what doctors call a first degree burn, which is a burn or scald which reddens the skin but does not blister or seriously damage the tissues underneath the skin. The prevention of chilblains is a distinct problem. The treatment is the treatment of burn, for the mildly frostbitten skin is pathologically the same as the mildly burned skin. Excessive heat applied to the part produces the same injury—necrosis or death of the part according to the intensity. If you suffer with chilblains, your lucky stars it is not necrosis or gangrene of the whole foot. Candidly I myself can't see how any one could possibly be thankful for a disease or an accident, yet our friends always bid us to feel that way if we survive, and I admit I thought here to give this column a touch of human sympathy, which some critics think it sorely lacks."

Prevention—Anything which aggravates the circulation predisposes to chilblain. Tight shoes, narrow pointed shoes which do not give the toes necessary room for movement, round toe garters, constrictions of the waist or pelvis with corsets or belts, insufficient daily exercise, long hours on the feet without a change of position, elevation of the legs to the vertical, all impair the circulation in the feet.

One subject to chilblains should wear warm socks only, thick socks, woolen if the feet perspire much, cashmere or wool stockings, and of course woolen underwear. Excessive perspiration of the feet must be controlled by proper treatment, for moisture is a fast heat conductor and therefore too quickly dissipates the natural warmth of the feet.

Treatment—Brisk friction with camphorated oil or with bay rum or with vinegar gives relief. Accompanying redness, or the foot, hand, nose or ear may be gently rubbed with snow. If the skin looks pale or if the cold friction shows it is not too vigorous and should be instantly stopped when the natural color is restored. The skin may be rubbed with snow or with cream or zinc oxide ointment, covered with a layer of gauze and cotton and bandaged. If blisters form, the blisters must be treated with sterile dressings as for burns of severity. The blisters should be pricked with a sterilized needle, and the fluid gently pressed out on a clean towel, and a sterile dressing applied. Treatment of the skin with ultraviolet ray has given very pleasing results in recurring chilblains.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Reducing Acidity. Please tell me a diet which will diminish an excessive acidity of the urine.

ANSWER—These articles tend to increase the normal acidity of urine. Most eggs, whole grains, peaches, and because of benzoic acid content.

COSTUME BLOUSE WOULD BE SMOCK

By ELOISE.

The new blouses which are so very costly and elaborate may look extravagant on the bills, but they are really economical. One may have one or two of these new fashion blouses, especially of the long or short peplum style, and they will be suitable for a date when in love with a fellow about twenty. Is it all right for me to go to another state with him and get married with my parents' consent?

It is not necessary to go to another state to marry if you have your parents' consent. You can marry right here. You are very much too young to take such a step, I am sure. Do not run away. If you go your name will appear in the papers and there will be a great deal of talk and trouble as a result.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What would be suitable to give a young man for Christmas? I wanted to give him something for his office or desk.

COUNTY. Give him a brass ink-well or desk calendar.

Another thing about these new costume blouses is that they will go to almost any lengths to be smart. Some have long peplums which reach almost to the knees, others have short peplums and then there are some which have no peplums at all. This fetching white blouse seems to have aspirations towards the smock. It is made of white cloth with a collar, vestee effect and cuffs of broad bands of white silk braid. Long white silk fringe is used to trim it.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Mrs. John A. Drake, with her decorations.

Mrs. John A. Drake, president of the American Red Cross, returned recently from Italy with the word that before she left Rome Pope Benedict granted her a 25 minute audience and asked her to thank the American people for the work accomplished by her organization.

Mrs. Drake declared the lives of 300,000 Italian babies were saved through the ministrations of her organization. Gabriele d'Annunzio decorated her in Rome, the mayor of Rome decorated her and she received the medal of merit of Italy and the Red Cross medal. D'Annunzio gave her a message, to the American people that read:

"You were an enormous mass made of dull power and riches. Behold! You have transformed into ardent and active spirituality. You are become a race of storm and storm, ready for the fight, erect in the face of a future greater than your whole past. Oh, liberty, let others despair of you, but not I, who will despair in the cry of your lion-hearted poet, Gabriele d'Annunzio."

"LET THE WOMEN DO IT" The success of the league of nations idea is dependent upon the intelligent co-operation of the women, says Miss A. Helen Ward in an article in the League a periodical.

The writer suggests the organization of a woman's bureau of the league of nations and for their general fitness rather than merely as experts in what are known as "women's interests."

NEUTRALITY OF SUFFRAGE Cardinal Gibbons denied recently that the pope had endorsed women's suffrage. He has been claimed by leading suffragists lately. His attention was called to an article in a recent issue of a suffrage paper, in which the pope was quoted as having said to Miss Annie Christchurch of the Catholic Women's Suffrage society of England, "We should like to see women electors everywhere."

The Cardinal thought that the suffragists had misconstrued whatever statement the pope made, when he gave an audience to Miss Christchurch for after having the quotation read to him, he said: "The pope has taken no position either for or against woman suffrage; he is neutral."

and adopted the profession of farm hand. He pursued this noble calling intermittently for several years, making rather unsuccessful efforts to get into newspaper work at the same time. Finally he went to work for William Allen White's paper, the Emporia Gazette, and it was this paper, which first published his little prose poems, which are now world famous. Ten years ago they were syndicated and now Walt has come into his own. He has been called the poet laureate of America; his verses have been referred to as the flowers of literature. His readers are scattered all over the world.

THREE YEARS FOR Maiming Male London, Eng.—Ivor Hudson, 37, a farm laborer, was sentenced to three years penal servitude for horse-maiming. Evidence was adduced showing that Hudson had maimed a mare any more, whereupon Hudson threatened that he would maim the animal as he should work it. The mare was found permanently maimed through nails driven into the hoofs.

SCOFIELDS OBSERVE JUBILEE WEDDING, RELATIVES PRESENT

(By Special Correspondent.)

Evansville, Jan. 4.—Fifty years ago December 31, Clint Scofield and Miss Frances Fellows were married. Their old friends and neighbors remembered the fact, and all day Wednesday flowers, gifts, and congratulations were brought by many callers. But, the complete and surprise came in the evening when 15 relatives, representative of four generations, rushed in upon "Uncle Clint" and Aunt Fannie, bearing well stocked baskets, more flowers, and gifts. Laughter, chat, games and song, and the beautiful supper from the baskets made a happy, long-to-be-remembered evening.

A number of girls stepped into the hall and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Scofield, singing "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet." The guests were seated at a long table, and the supper was served. Friends claim her to be a royal entertainer. At midnight they entered the dining room and were served to a bonfire of the winter.

CHAPTER VIII

The Trail to Ottawa

When my eyes again opened it was darkness and silence as profound as that of my former unconsciousness. For the moment I felt no certainty even that I was actually alive, yet slowly, little by little, reality came back, and I became keenly conscious of physical pain, while memory also began to blindly reassert itself.

I could see nothing, hear nothing. All about me was a profound blackness and silence of the grave. I found myself unable to move my body and when I desperately attempted to do so, the slightest movement brought pain. I became conscious also of a weight crushing down upon me, and stifling my breath. One of my arms was fastened to a wall within narrow limits, although it ached as from a serious burn. By use of it I endeavored through the black darkness to feel the nature of the weight, which lay across my chest, feeling at it cautiously. My fingers touched cold, dead flesh, from contact with which they shrank in horror, only to encounter a strand of coarse hair. The first terror of this discovery was overwhelming, yet I persevered, satisfying myself that it was the naked body of an Indian—a very giant of a fellow—whose lay stretched across me, an immovable weight. Something else, perhaps, a dead man, held my feet as though in a vise, and when I ventured to extend my one free arm gropingly to one side, the fingers encountered a moss-covered foot. Scarcely daring to breathe, I lay staring upward, and might be a jagged overhanging mass of timbers, although scarcely discernible, my eyes caught the silver glimmer of a star.

I was utterly helpless. Whatever had occurred in that fateful second to deflect that murderous tomahawk, its keen edge had failed to reach me. And what had occurred? It was that the subtle truth came to me—that flash and roar; that last impression imprinted on my brain before utter darkness descended upon me had to mean an explosion, an upheaval shattering the cabin, bringing the roof down upon the struggling mob within, the heavy timbers crushing out their lives. Any chance of escape was impossible—the half-log of blasting powder Kennedy had placed in the corner as a last resort. Had Tim reached it in a final effort to destroy or had some accidental flame wrought the terrible destruction? Perhaps no one could ever answer that, but I thought of the sole survivor, that those others of our little party died amid their Indian enemies, and were they lying now somewhere in this darkness, crushed and mangled in the midst of the debris?

Kennedy, Elsie Clark, the half-witted boy, Asa Hall—their faces seemed to stare at me out of the darkness. They must be dead! Why I had seen Kennedy fall, the headless feet crunching his face, and Asa Hall tossed into the air and shot at as he fell. Elsie? Elsie? I was conscious with the free hand, conscious that I was crying like a child—Elsie, my God, Elsie! I wonder if I fainted, I know I did, I suffered helplessly. I did not faint, then I must have been upon the verge of insanity, for there was a time—God knows how long—when all was black.

Some slight, scarcely distinguishable noise aroused me. Yes, it was actually a sound, as though someone moved in the room—moved stealthily, as though upon hands and knees, seeking a passage in the darkness. I imagined I could distinguish breathing. Who, what could it be? A man? A woman? A wild animal, which had scented blood? But for my dry, parched lips I would have cried out—yet even with the vain endeavor, doubt seized me. Who could be there—who? Some sneaking cowardly thief? Some despoiler of the dead? Some Indian returned through the night to take his revenge, seeking to avenge the death of a mighty warrior? More likely enemy than friend. It was better that I lie and suffer than appeal to such aid for mercy.

The slight sound shifted to the right of where I lay, no longer reminding me of the slow progress of a moving body, but rather of a creature slipping along, blindly to scrape together, ashes in the fireplace. I pressed my one free hand beneath my neck and thus, by an effort, I managed to see clearly beyond the shoulder of the dead Indian. The first tiny, flickering spark of fire had caught the dry wood, and in another moment this had illuminated that stooping figure, and rested in a blaze of light upon the lowered face, bringing out the features in sharp relief. A figure crouched against the black wall beyond a woman's face, the face of Elsie?

I gave vent to one startled, articulate cry, and the figure entered the room, flames kindling her as though she were a statue. In that first frightened glance she failed to see me; her whole posture told of fear.

"Who was it spoke? Who called? Is someone alive here?"

DOESN'T NEED ANY LAXATIVES NOW

Mr. Becker says life is a joy, without constipation or stomach trouble.

Edgerton News

[By Gazette Correspondent.]
Edgerton, Jan. 6.—James W. Men-
hall and C. C. Clement, Highway Tractor company, have been granted patent on a fifth wheel for vehicles.

The Century club held their annual picnic and banquet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Atwell last evening. A program was given, and a most enjoyable time was reported.

Harlon Knapp, who has been connected with the city council as an alderman and city auditor for the past 25 years resigned the latter position at the last regular meeting of the council. His successor has not been named.

A group of about a dozen men were organized as wolf hunters
under the leadership of Lee Alder, while plenty of fresh signs
found no wolves were taken or seen.

A shower was given in honor of Miss Florence Plagg at the home of Mrs. Charles Becker Saturday evening. The guests were taken to the Edgerton hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill, Port Worth, Texas, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grier.
Spillman accompanied his son to Watertown where the latter will resume his studies.

LOAFERS MUST PAY RENT
Lancaster, Pa. Jan. 6.—The H. W. Edgerton, gathering place for hundreds of farmers and traveling men, was adorned today with signs reading: "For Gumbly, Only. Otherwise 10 Cents." Samuel R. Webber, proprietor of the hotel, said that since prohibition became a guest at his house "the gang has moved from the lobby, and that hereafter chairs in his lobby would be rented for a dime.

GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 6.—Stormy weather and lightness of receipts gave a decided advance today in the grain markets. Besides there was some export inquiry for corn. General prices, however, were not so much affected, together with weakness in hog values, led to a reaction. Opening prices, which ranged from 1 1/2 cents, yesterday's finish to 1 1/2 cents higher, with May 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents higher, and then something of a reaction. After opening unchanged to 1 1/2 cents, the market hardened here before beginning a reaction.
